(S)Election time is the only time ordinary Nigerians get to feel the presence of their governments and "enjoy democracy dividends".

Lagos State governor Babatunde Fashola and the candidate to replace him (anointed by Bobo Chicago Bola Tinubu) Akinwunmi Ambode have been tossing noodles, biscuits and sweets at crowds - crumbs from stolen loot.

Yet these people call themselves "progressives" as in "All Progressives Congress" (APC), or "All Progressives Confidence" as Buhahari their leader would say.

There is nothing "progressive" about bribing hungry voters with foodstuff.
